Where Are You Going To Live?
Housing is readily available, but the pleasant climate and the beautiful environment of our coastal mountain region have created a more expensive real estate market.
The majority of UCSB students live off-campus in local apartments, houses, rooms in private homes, co-ops, fraternities and sororities.

- Detailed information about housing options for students is provided on our website at www.housing.ucsb.edu
- Rental listings available at www.rentallistings.housing.ucsb.edu

Short Term Housing
When you initially arrive on campus, searching for housing can be overwhelming. If you intend to look between the end of August or the beginning of September, UCSB hotel offers rooms in their residence halls for registered students. For more information search the housing website for “short stays.” The Community Housing Office (CHO) may also have information on hotels in the area.

- Call (805) 893-4371 or email housing-ucsbcho@ucsb.edu for suggestions.

Lastly, it’s recommended that you consider renting a room in a private home where month-to-month leases are typically offered. This will be useful while you search for a more permanent locale.

Shared Housing
Most UCSB students in Isla Vista have roommates; it’s the most realistic way of dealing with high rents. On average, students should expect to spend between $650-$750 to share a room in Isla Vista. Prices may vary based on amenities, location, and included utilities. Both tenants who need roommates and roommates who need rooms advertise online with the CHO rental database.

Apartments
Apartments located closest to campus and the beach tend to be the most expensive. The further from campus and the beach that students live, the lesser the rent. Most single students who live in private housing choose to live within a mile of campus, primarily in Isla Vista (I.V.), the community adjacent to campus. In I.V. the average cost for a one-bedroom is about $1500/month and the average cost for a two-bedroom is about $2660/month.

- Up-to-date statistics can be found on our website.

Houses
There are some houses available, but be prepared to pay several thousand dollars in start-up costs. Rents can run $2500/month to $3967/month for two and three bedroom houses in the Isla Vista and Santa Barbara areas.

Rooms in Private Homes
Many private homeowners in the Goleta/Santa Barbara area rent rooms to UCSB students, staff and faculty. Rents start at about $650/month for a private (often furnished) room. Many are within biking distance or close to a bus stop. See page 8 for more information on renting a room in a private home.

Greek Life
Joining a fraternity or sorority at UCSB offers you the opportunity to make connections and find support with a group of people that share your interests and goals. Many chapters offer housing and meals for members.

- If you are interested in finding out more about Greek life, keep your eyes and ears open for information on “Rush” (procedures for new member recruitment) or contact the Director of Greek Affairs in the Office of Student Life at (805) 893-8463.
Co-op Housing
Santa Barbara Student Housing
Co-op is a nonprofit organization made up of five buildings in I.V. which are owned and controlled by the residents that live there. Co-op members are expected to attend monthly house meetings, complete “service hours” each quarter and participate in the house chore system. Anyone is welcome as a member provided that he or she is a student, staff or faculty member at UCSB, with a good reference from a previous tenancy.

University-Owned Housing
Single Student Housing
Go to www.housing.ucsb.edu and click on “Applications” page for eligibility, availability, and application dates.

Residence Halls
UCSB owns eight residence halls. Freshmen are guaranteed housing if they return their residence hall contract by the specified deadline. There is plenty of space for all other undergraduate students.

- Information about the eight university-owned residence halls is available through Housing and Residential Services at www.housing.ucsb.edu or by calling (805) 893-5513.

Single Student Apartments
The Santa Ynez, Westgate, Westwinds, San Clemente, Sierra Madre, San Joaquin, and El Dorado University-Owned apartment complexes offer units primarily for juniors and seniors. Furnished studios, one-bedroom and two-bedroom apartments are available. The San Clemente Apartments offer private bedrooms in a furnished two- or four-bedroom unit. This complex is geared for single graduate students.

University-Owned Housing
Family Student Housing
There are two UCSB-owned apartment complexes offering unfurnished one-bedroom and two-bedroom apartments for students and their families. Students with families can apply to the West Campus, Storke I and Storke II complexes any time on-line at www.housing.ucsb.edu. Families with children under 18 receive priority and may be housed generally within 6-9 months. Families without children can expect to wait between 18-24 months to receive housing.

- More information is available by calling (805) 893-4021.

STUDENT PERSPECTIVE
As your typical panicky freshman, I rushed to find housing and roommates in December. I locked myself into an apartment I had not seen the interior of with girls I met only three months earlier and barely knew. While I was relieved throughout the year that I did not have the apartment hunting task looming over me, I worried about whether my housing experience the following year would be a positive one. But once I moved in, I knew that I had gotten lucky. While I would never, ever recommend rushing into an apartment the way I did- exploring your options and knowing what you’re getting yourself into is key. Living with your best friends is not always what it’s cracked up to be. The fact that my housemates are not my closest friends makes our apartment dynamic simpler. We respect each other’s space and privacy and confront each other about problems we have, rather than feeling paranoid that we may hurt each other’s feelings and ruin our friendship. Although I was fortunate with the outcome of my apartment search, I know for next year to know more about the place before signing the lease and to ask my potential roommates questions beforehand to get an idea of if we are capable of living together peacefully.
