IN SUMMER 2008, Housing & Residential Services planned, dreamed, and developed a map for our future. "2020 Vision: The Best Housing Experience" provides opportunities for residents to get connected in an amazing environment through four visions:

- Continuous Innovation
- Talented Staff Who Care
- World Class Facilities
- Focus on the Whole Person

Every year we create departmental outcomes and action steps in order to fulfill these visions. A constant and integral part of this process is two Strategic Priorities: Responsible Use of Resources and Partnering for Success. These are the filters through which decisions are made to best leverage our resources – people, time, and money – as we move forward.

A more detailed description of the priorities can be found on pages 3-4 and colored squares are placed throughout the report indicating decisions that were made in consideration of our strategic priorities.

Decision Making Through Our Strategic Priorities
The University of California, Santa Barbara, is a distinguished university recognized for its leadership by state, national, and world academic communities. Housing & Residential Services exists as an integral part of the educational program and academic services of UCSB. Inherent in the operation of Housing & Residential Services is the formation and support of an atmosphere that is conducive to living and learning for our residents and for those who use our services. Housing & Residential Services promotes the academic mission of UCSB and creates, through support services and developmental programs, a sense of community among students, faculty, and staff.

The mission of Housing & Residential Services is based on the following premises:

• Learning is a continuous process.
• A community is positively served by responsible social behavior.
• Staff are role models to the larger community.
• Environment affects behavior. If positive environment promotes positive behavior, then we must take responsibility for the environment.
• Environment progresses.
• Community action and involvement are key ingredients in the democratic process.
• Proper nourishment is equally important to a student’s intellectual development.

I AM DELIGHTED TO SHARE with you the Housing & Residential Services (H&RS) Annual Report, an account of the achievements and contributions of individual members and program units in our department during the 2009-10 academic year. This year’s report chronicles our efforts in applying our strategic priorities of partnering for success and responsibly using the resources available to us.

H&RS provides housing and associated residential life services for UC Santa Barbara’s undergraduate student, graduate student and faculty population. We employ a staff of 720 FTE in the department which equates to 456 regular employees and more than 700 student employees. H&RS is a campus auxiliary department reporting through the Division of Administrative Services. As Executive Director of Housing & Residential Services, I serve as UCSB’s chief housing officer.

Our organizational structure is designed to promote active cooperation in managing the service programs within the department. The programs include Apartment & Community Living (Family Student Housing; Graduate Apartments; Undergraduate Apartments; Judicial Affairs; Community Housing Office), Business & Financial Planning (Budget & Finance; Faculty Housing Services; Information Systems & Technology; Campus Conference Services), Executive Director’s Office (Organizational & Performance Management; Resource Planning; Communications, Marketing & Social Media), Residential Dining Services (Carrillo, De La Guerra, Portola, and Ortega Dining Commons; Special Events Catering & Concessions), Residential Life (Residence Halls; Judicial Affairs; Program & Student Leadership Development), and Residential Operations (Maintenance Services; Environmental, Sustainability & Energy Programs; Custodial & Landscape Services; Health Advocacy & Wellness; Project Coordination).

The 2009-10 year was challenging, yet exciting, as we continued to keep the department attentive to providing the best housing experience. Our strategic planning efforts paid off as we ensured that our partnerships and resources remain focused on our four strategic outcomes: world class facilities; talented staff who care; focus on the whole person; and continuous innovation.

We have looked for opportunities to blend leadership theory with on-the-ground experience in order to achieve larger results and greater rewards for those we serve. This positive approach to our daily tasks has brought a synergy that has allowed us to prosper even in these challenging economic times. We continue to keep our eyes on the prize—scholarship, leadership, citizenship—that is the cornerstone of our work at UC Santa Barbara. We do so by deepening our commitment to developing intellectual competence, helping people choose the right path, and allowing individuals and communities to reach their fullest potential. We have been hard at work providing the highest quality residential experience for our residents, staff and other customers. As we look to the future, we will continue to use our strategic plan as our foundation for success. Please take a moment to acknowledge the dedication of the people in Housing & Residential Services as we continue to provide exceptional service to those we serve. Thank you for reading about our accomplishments from 2009-10.
Strategic Priorities

The Strategic Priorities are the filters through which we make everyday decisions as a department. They are used in determining the course of large projects such as whether to implement a division-wide timekeeping system (Partnering for Success) or as simple as “do I really need to print this document?” (Responsible Use of Resources).

On these pages are examples of how we used each of the priorities in departmental decisions, big and small.

Responsible Use of Resources

GOING TRAYLESS: In 2009-10 the UCSB Residential Dining Commons went trayless. In addition to the environmental benefits – a huge reduction in food waste, water usage and chemical usage – Residential Dining’s decision to stop having trays available has proved to be a successful financial move. Budget savings have allowed for the implementation of new programs including serving fair trade/organic coffee, cage free/certified humane eggs, sustainable fish, and more organics.

OTHER EXAMPLES

- Online move-out instructions and handbooks for apartment residents
  - Reduced paper usage and printing costs
- Purchasing food from sustainable sources (23%)
  - Exceeded UCOP's sustainability goals of 20% sustainable food by 2020
- Installation of energy saving lamps and waterless urinals throughout various facilities
  - Reduced energy and water use
- Identifying specific cost per meal targets and implementing student labor guidelines for all dining units
  - Continued budget awareness and accountability to achieve greater levels of efficiency
- Centralized printing services throughout the department and set default to duplex printing
  - Reduced existing printer count, associated support costs, and paper usage

Trays require water for washing, chemicals for cleaning, salaries for handling, and energy for cleansing.

Food waste has decreased dramatically. Students only get the food they can eat and carry.

Waitressing skills not required (although multiple trips are strongly encouraged.)
UCSB ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES: working closely with the division, H&RS staff members provided leadership and support on several technological initiatives (see below). The application software is hosted in H&RS and support is provided through our online and phone work order systems.

- Kronos (electronic time-keeping system)
- TMA (maintenance work order system)
- Microsoft Outlook (e-mail and calendar software)

Partnering for Success

“I was tasked with taking the concepts from the Strategic Planning Conference and presenting them in a way that our staff and others, from all walks of life, could understand and utilize. It ended up as a small colorful booklet and a poster in two languages. It’s empowering to work in an organization that genuinely cares about its employees and has a clearly defined vision for its future.”

“Being a part of the Strategic Plan process was both insightful and rewarding! It was a wonderful opportunity to monitor our progress, identify performance indicators and define the next short term outcomes - all the while focusing on our 2020 vision. The experience made me proud to be part of an organization that engages its stakeholders and is transparent about their strategic priorities, organizational goals and objectives.”

I was fortunate to be present during the process that resulted in the 2020 Vision Statement. I can still remember when “getting connected” emerged as a theme and how that transformed from students connecting with students to a broader concept that involved all kinds of connections... human, technological, intellectual, emotional, etc. More recently, working with the Continuous Innovation outcomes group gave me a chance to look outside of our campus at other institutions and realize how well we are doing and how much more we can learn and strive for.

Miki Swick
Director, Conference Services
Implemented the trayless program, which achieved significant raw food and water savings and allowed for implementation of new programs including serving fair trade organic coffee and cage-free eggs.

Developed and implemented a sustainability strategic plan, identifying two visions with four outcomes.

Continued budget awareness and accountability by identifying specific cost per meal targets and implementing student labor guidelines for all units to achieve greater levels of efficiency.

Exceeded UCOP’s Sustainability goals of 20% sustainable food by 2020: 23% of food purchased is from sustainable sources (85% of fish purchased is sustainably fished and 26% of produce purchased is local and organic.)

“...It’s always great to take part in making our goals become a reality. Goals really do motivate us. By working with others in Housing, I learned more about their priorities and concerns and how they tie in with my department. We are in this together and we are doing great things.”

Sarah Black

Housing & Residential Services engages in numerous planning processes. The Educational Equity Plan, the Strategic Plan, the Capital Plan, the Campus Housing Study, and Benchmarking prepare our organization for the future. These planning processes often bring together H&R staff and the campus community to help create visions that will live out our values and direct our priorities in the future.

Educational Equity Plan

The Educational Equity Plan (EEP) was first created in 1990 to assist H&R in managing the commitment to diversity that has been expressed at the departmental, divisional, university, and systemwide level. The EEP provides an opportunity to evaluate our efforts and to connect them to an integrated, systematic, departmentwide design. Directors work with their areas to evaluate progress toward the goals of the EEP.

Efforts focus on four strategies: Provide Access, Increase Empowerment, Encourage Awareness, and Build Understanding. These overlapping strategies are designed to ensure that H&R provides access where it is lacking and sustains an environment that encourages success for our diverse student and staff population.

Strategic Plan

H&R's 1998 Strategic Plan focused on developing World Class Facilities, The Best Housing Value, Inclusive Learning Environments, Outstanding Customer Service, Valued Staff Members, Customer-Centered High-Tech Services, Pro-Active Energy and Resource Management, and Partnerships Within and Beyond the Department. In 2003, H&R conducted a “midpoint check-in” to assess progress toward the “Valued Staff Members” vision.

In 2008, H&R completed a new Strategic Plan that built on the efforts of the prior plan. Looking forward to the year 2020, H&R is focused on providing the “Best Housing Experience” by creating opportunities for residents to get connected in an amazing environment through World Class Facilities, Focus on the Whole Person, Continuous Innovation, and Talented Staff Who Care. The Strategic Plan is a living document with new goals set toward its continued accomplishment.

Capital Plan

One of our Strategic Plan visions is to have “world class facilities” by achieving excellence in all of our housing venues. Our Capital Plan fulfills this vision by renewing existing housing stock and increasing the housing available to the UCSB student community. We expect new and upgraded facilities that will set a 21st century standard for residential living and learning. Our investment strategy has allowed us to respond effectively to the needs of the student housing community, while maintaining rates at below market levels. The magnitude of the plan will create a larger organization and physical plant over a very short span of time. Our goal is to maintain our health and vitality as an organization as we continue to provide resources that fulfill our value of quality service.

Campus Housing Study

Our campus’ long-term success is dependent on our ability to provide affordable housing opportunities to enroll and retain the best students, and recruit and retain the best faculty and staff. With this in mind, H&R launched a housing master plan process to identify housing needs, goals, and potential solutions through the year 2020. Urban Design Associates (UDA) led our campus through a planning process, which involved focus groups with students, staff, and faculty, and representatives from six UC campus housing departments. Land owned by UCSB was reviewed and potential sites for development were identified. The Campus Planning Committee approved the final report, titled “The UCSB Campus Housing Plan/Study,” in 2006, and these recommendations have been incorporated into the campus' long range planning.

Benchmarking

In 2005, H&R began integrating process improvement methodologies by working with the American Productivity and Quality Center (APQC). After assessing processes for improvement, we decided on two projects to benchmark against best practices in the field. Benchmarking is the process of identifying, understanding and adapting outstanding practices from other organizations to improve your organization.

The Senior Management Team worked on Succession Management. After reviewing APQC’s Best Practice reports, a Leadership Development process was designed to develop mid- and upper-level management. A second group of staff met over five months to conduct benchmarking on Professional Development. They made recommendations for dealing with gaps between our practices and best practices in other organizations, and reported where H&R offers outstanding leadership.
One of our strengths in H&RS is our ability to figure out what is important and to communicate this clearly to the folks who work by our side. This has allowed us to successfully navigate through many tough issues without getting lost in the details.

We are seeing tremendous changes in the world’s ecology including population shifts, economic upheavals, political polarization, new independence movements and natural disasters. All of these things have some effect on the work we do, although we are not always able to measure those effects. What we do know is that we are engaged in an ongoing process to reinvent our work to maintain productivity, fulfillment, flexibility, and mobility. Our greatest asset is our collective wisdom; our ability to innovate and collaborate cannot be taken away. Personal creativity is essential in launching us on this new voyage and gives us the ability to ask ourselves critical questions, challenge existing business practices, and through the guide of our strategic planning filters, cultivate possibilities rather than react to decline.

We, in H&RS, have created a work setting where the ground is fertile to grow fresh ideas. Saying and doing are not the same thing and organizations can get lost when they lose track of their promises. Our ability to look beyond the obvious and not stop at first answers has helped us probe all fruitful resources for answers and to be honest with ourselves in assessing our pledge to influence a new generation of leaders.

We are about… letting people know they matter!

We Are About Card

H&RS Mission

HOUSING & RESIDENTIAL SERVICES is the largest department on campus and serves more than 450 career employees working toward one goal – to provide the best possible service to our customers. With so many different backgrounds and interests, how does it all work? We share a set of seven core values that make living out our mission a reality.

New employees are given a laminated We Are About card that lists the values that H&RS employees strive to exemplify in their daily work. These values were developed by staff members to reflect what we are about in our service to the organization, in our relationships with fellow employees, and in our responsibilities to our customers.
IN SUMMER 2008, Housing & Residential Services planned, dreamed, and developed a map for our future. "2020 Vision: The Best Housing Experience" provides opportunities for residents to get connected in an amazing environment through four visions.*

Continuous Innovation
Talented Staff Who Care
World Class Facilities
Focus on the Whole Person

Every year we create departmental outcomes and action steps in order to fulfill these visions. A constant and integral part of this process is our Strategic Priorities (Responsible Use of Resources and Partnering for Success). These are the filters through which decisions are made to best leverage our resources – people, time and money – as we move forward.

A more detailed description of the priorities can be found on pages 3-4 and colored squares (below) are placed throughout the report indicating decisions that were made in consideration of our strategic priorities.
